

Workers in Canada all share 3 BASIC RIGHTS pursuant to OH&S legislation

KNOW

The right to know, or the right to be informed about, actual and potential hazards in the workplace

PARTICIPATE

The right to participate in your Local Safety Committee and to ask questions about work safety

REFUSE

The right to refuse unsafe work and to express your concerns to your supervisor without discrimination

